Grand Jury counters allegations

Grand Jury raps Bay PD

By BRENT MACEY
Noting that four members of the Bay Police Department have been charged with crimes ranging from drug possession to murder in the last year, the January term of the Hancock County Grand Jury recommended that the Bay St. Louis City Council, the State Attorney General's Office, and other appropriate state agencies conduct an "in-depth investigation" into the department.

The report also includes some two pages of recommended improvements for the department in its final report issued Friday to Circuit Court Judge Leslie B. Grant.

Although the Grand Jury also urged an investigation into the Bay St. Louis City Council and all Law Enforcement Agency grants, no reasons were given for this recommendation was included in the report.

Assistant Police Chief Jerry Gremlion, speaking on behalf of Chief Douglas Williams, who has been hospitalized recently for heart surgery, stated the Grand Jury did not visit the Bay Police Department during its three week term.

"I think some people went before them and gave them some wrong information," Gremlion said.

He stated that he and Williams are the only ones with keys to a locker which contains contraband and evidence confiscated by the department.

Overturning truck injures driver

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
A Gulf Coast Waste and Disposal, Inc. garbage truck driver apparently escaped serious injury when his vehicle overturned on its side and struck a tree Friday afternoon in Bay St. Louis.

Patrolman Harris Boudreaux of the Bay Police Department said at the accident scene that Richard Howard, 24, of Route 4, Box 804 in Bay St. Louis was transported by Mobile Medie to Hancock General Hospital in that city for treatment of a laceration and possible broken ribs.

A hospital spokesman said Friday afternoon that Howard was treated in the emergency room and released.

Boudreaux said the truck was traveling west on Esplanade Street and had just turned on to Beyer Drive when the right front tire of the vehicle dropped off the roadway into a ditch causing the truck to topple over.

The truck's windshield shattered as the overturning vehicle struck a pine tree.

William Smith, 19, a Gulf Coast Waste employee said he was riding in the passenger side of the vehicle, but apparently was not injured.

Smith said when the vehicle flipped that Howard was thrown on top of him and Jerry Smith, who was riding on the back of the truck, jumped out the back.

Jerry Smith apparently suffered a skinned hand in the mishap.

William Smith said he and Thomas Turner, a Beyer Drive resident, helped Howard out of the vehicle after the accident and administered first aid.

The Bay Fire Department truck with five firefighters was called to the scene by Boudreaux as a precaution because of diesel fuel leaking from the truck.

N.A. (Nancy) Ferrel and Son Wrecker Service responded to the scene with its truck wrecker (Big Daddy) and an automobile wrecker to upright the truck weighted by one-half of a garbage load.

After about one hour, wrecker service crews uprighted the vehicle which was sent to the landfill.

Boudreaux said no charges were filed in the incident.

A Gulf Coast Waste spokesman said total cost of the 1980 model truck is about $75,000.

Circuit clerk indicted

By BRENT MACEY
Hancock County Circuit Clerk Henry Otis was indicted for embezzlement Friday by the January term of the County Grand Jury.

He is charged with converting $49,019 of 1980 and 1981 money to his own use between October 1978 and October 1981 by virtue of his office.

Otis was released on a $10,000 property bond after being booked by the Sheriff's Department shortly after the Grand Jury recessed at the end of a three week term.

The jurors recommend a part-time auditor periodically hold an unannounced audit on all financial accounts of the city and county and that this auditor or accountant report his find-ding to the State Auditor.

That report also notes the Grand Jury handed down 72 indictments after considering 32 cases.

Patrolman Edward C. Hammond was charged with possession of marijuana following a Hancock County Sheriff's Department raid of his residence Sept. 18.

Sheriff Ronald Peterson said Friday that Hammond pled guilty in Justice Court to a misdemeanor offense of possession of less than one ounce of marijuana.

Hammond was fined $200, Peterson reported.

Tutt, a former Bay police officer, also pled guilty in Circuit Court to charges of grand larceny following his arrest last summer by the Sheriff's Department.

Peterson said Tutt was given a two year suspended sentence in the Mississippi State Penitentiary, was fined $1,000 and was placed on three years probation.

Tutt was charged with theft of a motorcycle from Breath's Motors in Bay St. Louis last February.

In the final report the Grand Jury recommends the Bay Police Department adopt a Code of Conduct Manual to reflect the primary functions of the department.

The Grand Jurors also recommended that any regular or reserve police officers found to have prior arrest records, including traffic violations, be removed from duty at once.

In reference to hiring police officers, the Grand Jury recommends all applicants meet requirements of a Minimum Standard Law.

Otis' recommendations include background investigation of each job applicant including physical and psychological examination.

The report states that many persons in the community hold commissions and reserve police officers and recommends these commissions be recalled at once.

Other recommendations include background investigation of all future police officers and that the Bay Police Training Academy be established.

The report also notes the Grand Jury's attention that financial accounts are not being audited by the State on a regular basis. Some accounts are not being audited at all, the report states.

But division chief said the board has not done anything yet to revoke the permits.

However, Bob Brown, the board's acting director, reported Friday that the agency is working for the bureau's attorney to present a petition requesting the permits be revoked and ordering the companies to obtain EPO permits.

"I brought the permit matter to the attention of the board and everybody's agreement that the oil mud pits should be under the jurisdiction of the EPO," he stated.

Quinn explained a petition is a legal document requesting the board to revoke a permit.

New Orleans firm planning Waveland vacation resort

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

A New Orleans development firm is planning to build a 16-unit, 2.5-story vacation resort near Beach Boulevard in Waveland.

Richard B. Hymel of RBH Properties Thursday revealed plans are being finalized for the development named Fair Oaks Vacation Villas which will be located about one-fourth of a mile east of Nicholson Avenue.

The developer said Resort Condominium International, a vacation exchange company, will own the completed complex.

He said after permits are obtained from the city that first phase construction, erecting eight units which is one of two buildings to be built, should begin in late April or early May and be completed in the fall at the 3.5-acre site. The developer said cost estimates for the resort have not yet been finalized by architect Philip Shaw of Gulfport.

He reported that in addition to the two multi-unit buildings, a clubhouse will be constructed providing meeting rooms, a lounge area, health facility, sauna and a weight room; and the company plans to build a heated swimming pool, whirlpool, recreation center, fishing pier and tennis courts.

Hymel emphasized the development will not be a motel, but a time-sharing resort in which shares for each unit are sold under a full warranty deed.

He explained the deed entitles the owner to utilize a unit for a specific time period annually—usually one week. Hymel noted upper-middle and high income individuals who travel frequently are most likely to purchase the units.

He said each of two buildings will contain four flats on the first floor and four townhouses on the upper floors. Hymel noted all the units will be completely furnished.

The first floor units, the villas, contain 1,000-square-foot and offer two bedrooms and one bathroom. The second floor townhouse vacation homes are about 1,300 square feet and feature one bedroom and bath on the lower level, and a master bedroom and bath on the upper level off, he explained. Each unit will be furnished with a king-size bed in the master bedroom, a color television and a fully-equipped kitchen with linens. Laundry facilities will be located on the site and several units will also contain fireplaces.

Hymel also noted the Resort Condominiums will arrange unit trade-outs with more than 100,000 interval owners and 600 resorts throughout the world.

In time-sharing a unit is sold by the week, usually 51 times, allowing one week annually for maintenance, he stated.

Prices start at $2,500 for a one-week interval for a first-floor unit and the lotbed townhouses range upwards from $3,500 with discounts available for purchasing additional weeks, the developer reported.

He added that a $150 annual maintenance fee would also be assessed to owners.

Hymel said the first phase units facing the beachfront are now being sold. Second-phase sales will begin when 50 percent of the initial units are sold.

He noted 75 percent of the total weeks available are now sold.

Hymel, a 1974 graduate of St. Stanislaus High School in Bay St. Louis, said he plans to reside at Fair Oaks as manager.

Hancock Chamber ok's proposed senate district

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors last week approved a resolution recommending State Senator Martin Smith for his role in development of a new senate district which includes most Hancock precincts.

That district incorporates chamber recommendations to keep 22 of Hancock County's 24 precincts together.

A special chamber committee headed by attorney John Scatena, chamber vice-president and composed of L. J. Braux, chamber president, and Dr. Michael Smith of Advanced Development, Inc., conferred with Smith on changes he presented to a Special Joint Legislative Reapportionment Committee.

The plan before the committee when the legislature convened included five northern precincts in Hancock County—Catahoula, Crane Creek, Flat Top, Leetown and Standard—in District 47 where Smith is incumbent.

District 47 also encompasses Pearl River and Stone Counties.

Senate District 16, as now drawn, includes Catahoula, Flat Top and Standard.

Five precincts in northern Harrison County—Riceville, Advance, West Saucier, East Saucier and Poplar Head—are included in District 47.

By doing this, we have shifted 2,331 Harrison County votes from District 16 to District 47 and 2,072 Hancock County votes from District 47 back to District 16," said Scatena.

The net result of the changes proposed by the chamber is an increase in Hancock population percentage in the new District 16, an increase from 42 percent to 47 percent, he continued.

There will be no incumbent in the new district.

These changes will not go into effect until 1984," Smith noted.

"Both logs must be signed before anything may be removed. If they are not, then we would notice the discrepancy," he said.

Gremillion stated, "I don't know what they (Grand Jurors) are talking about in reference to the jurors' recommendation that too many commissions have been awarded by the department."

The assistant chief said the department has some 11 patrolmen and eight to 10 auxiliary police officers.

Gremillion said the auxiliary officers are a vital part of the police department, since they handle parades and ball games which otherwise would take the regular police officers away from calls.

In reference to having employees receive instruction from the State Police Training Academy, Gremillion said a state law passed recently requires all police officers hired after July 1, 1979 to attend the academy.

He said two officers of the Bay Police Department had attended after that date and will be attending the school.

But he says some people who have been with the police department for 10, 15, 20 years think they should know better than now," he said.

Gremillion said the department has a mandatory training class from time to time.

All reserve police officers also receive instruction from the department. He said police officers before being allowed to carry a gun or drive a police car.

Gulfport Seabee unit takes national award

The Society of American Military Engineers has announced the selection of U.S. Naval Mobile Construction Battalion ONE, homeported at the Gulfport Seabee Center as recipient of the Pelletier Award for fiscal 1981.

"We are really pleased with being selected as the best," said Cmdr. Jack E. Bufington, commanding officer, NMCB ONE. "NMCB THREE did a fine job, but we were fortunate ones to be selected. I truly appreciate the job the men in the battalion have done. It was a team effort."

The award is offered annually by the Society for the most outstanding unit in the active Naval Construction Force.

In a message to NMCB ONE, RADM. William M. Zobel, Chief of Navy Civil Engineers, cited many areas for NMCB ONE's selection. "NMCB ONE's training program while in homeport to insure a maximum state of combat and mobilization readiness, and to plan and prepare for the upcoming construction tasking, was most impressive upon deployment to Diego Garcia."

"You provided a splendid example of our support to the U.S. military establishment by accomplishing many urgently required operational and support projects. These projects included temporary and permanent living quarters, utility systems, and security facilities, while maintaining the highest quality construction."

"Throughout the year, your efforts in improving and supporting each individual in leadership, training, advancement, and recruitment were truly outstanding and demonstrated a sincere interest in the professional growth and of each individual aboard. Your performance exemplifies pride and professionalism in the Navy, the Seabees and in NMCB ONE."

"With the high state of readiness and enthusiastic spirit of the Corps prevailing in the Naval Construction Force, competition for this coveted award was extremely keen," said RADM. Zobel. "NMCB THREE's record was particularly outstanding. Consequently, you can be proud of your accomplishments and of your selection as the recipient of the Pelletier Award for FY 81."

"You have truly lived up to your motto: 'The First and the Finest.' I extend my warmest congratulations to each man in the battalion for this fine achievement. Well Done!"

CANCER Answerline

American Cancer Society

A regular feature prepared by the American Cancer Society to help save your life from cancer.

Question: Does inhaling asbestos dust cause cancer?

ANSWERline: There is evidence that asbestos insulation workers previously employed in shipyards and other industries are developing asbestososis, a chronic lung disease, as well as increased rates of certain cancers. World War II shipyard workers have been found to be at increased risk for mesothelioma, a cancer of the lining of the chest wall. Above-average rates of digestive system cancer have also been found in asbestos workers. It also has been shown that asbestos workers who smoke are at risk for lung cancer eight times more than other smokers. It is not known how or why asbestos causes disease. The fibers are very fine and can be inhaled and swallowed, remaining in the body many years. Asbestos-related disease is not likely to appear until 15 to 25 or more years after exposure. Information on health risks associated with asbestos exposure can be obtained by writing: Asbestos, National Cancer Institute, Bethesda, Maryland, 20814.

Question: What are the symptoms of prostate cancer?

ANSWERline: Cancer of the prostate usually involves enlargement of the gland. However, one enlargement which is not cancer occurs in about 50 percent of all men over 50. While this enlargement should be investigated, it does not in itself mean cancer. Any prostate enlargement can lead to a variety of urinary problems, such as difficulty in urinating or controlling urination, the need to urinate frequently, painful or burning urination, or blood in the urine.

Question: Doesn't everything cause cancer if the dose is high enough?

ANSWERline: High doses of many chemicals are toxic, but they do not necessarily cause cancer. They may, however, cause loss of hair or weight, several other illnesses and conditions, or even death without relation to this disease.

Question: Are the new tanning centers safe?

ANSWERline: Dermatologists warn that tanning for cosmetic purposes is neither safe nor innocuous. Since individuals vary in their "tan ability," your dermatologist's advice, common sense and moderation are the best criteria for tanning, indoors or out.

Question: What can one do about testicular cancer?

ANSWERline: Early detection of this cancer is aided by a simple, three-minute self-examination. Roll each testis gently between the thumb and fingers of both hands. If you find any hard lumps or nodules, see your doctor promptly. He will give you a thorough physical examination, take certain X-rays to make the most accurate diagnosis possible.

The Krewe of Nereids staged ball number sixteen last night, but it seems just yesterday the krewe's first parade started to roll on the streets of Waveland.

Speculation was rife in the area this past week as to whom would be king and queen of Nereids. We know the queen's identity is to remain secret, but many ballgoers figure who the queen is, even in costume.

We heard so many names mentioned, it almost sounded like every lady of the krewe was going to be queen.

All we have to say is that those naming the queen and king really kept their secret well this year.

At the time of writing this column for today's paper, we do not know who the king selected is.

We will be ready Sunday Feb. 14 to view Nereids parade as it rolls on US-90, a new route.

We have heard opinions the new parade route will be better, and others not in favor of the move. Only time will tell.

We do hope the young at heart will mark their calendars to view the parade which begins at 2 p.m.

We had an opportunity on Wednesday to speak to Mrs. Fay Gillis Wells, a house guest of the Lionel Baxter's in Bay St. Louis.

Wednesday night Mrs. Wells was guest speaker at the Mississippi Gulf Coast Metropolitan Dinner Club. She discussed the four Presidents of the United States whom she covered as a White House correspondent for the Storer Broadcasting Company.

Many of us will remember in the aftermath of Hurricane Camille when President Richard Nixon passed over the Mississippi Gulf Coast checking damages in Air Force One, well she was on the plane with the president.

The destruction was beyond comprehension, according to Mrs. Wells.

Mrs. Wells was White House correspondent during the terms of presidents L. B. Johnson, Richard Nixon, Gerald Ford and Jimmy Carter.

Persons in the field of flying will be interested to know Mrs. Wells was a personal friend of the late Amelia Earhart and assisted her on many flights.

Mrs. Wells was the first woman pilot member of the Caterpillar Club and is a charter member of the International organization of women pilots known as the Ninety-Nines who were named by Amelia Earhart.

In addition, Mrs. Wells was responsible for Wiley Post's fuel stops in Novosibirsk and Irkutsk on his record-breaking flight around the world in 1933.

She was the first American woman to pilot a Soviet civil aircraft and first foreigner to own a glider in the Soviet Union.

We were happy to talk with Mrs. Wells and hope she enjoyed her visit to Bay St. Louis and the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

Small-business Angle

GOVERNMENT SHOULD NOT COMPETE WITH BUSINESS

In the excellent book, Better Government at Half the Price, authors James T. Bennett and Manuel H. Johnson point out that government competition with the private sector is wasteful and costly to the taxpayer and costly to the small-business person.

A recent study by the General Accounting Office for the U.S. Congress shows just how serious is the matter of government competition with private business.

GAO says an estimated 400,000 federal employees are currently operating over 11,000 commercial or industrial activities, at an estimated cost (to the taxpayer) approaching $19 billion annually.

Small-business people don't need the GAO to tell them about government competition. One business in California reports losing a contract with the National Guard when that government organization opened its own retraining plant in Utah.

In Kansas, Agriculture Department county agents undercut small-business people by selling seeds, chemicals and other products at cost.

In Indiana, the Department of Energy is elbowing in on the private sector by selling insulation, and a small-businessman in Ohio who rents tools says the Department of Housing and Urban Development is encroaching on his business by loaning tools free.

As early as 1952, President Eisenhower emphasized the necessity for the private sector to provide goods and services to the government, rather than government producing them at taxpayer's expense.

But in recent years, that principle has been eroded, and the result has been unfair competition by government in the market place, a loss of tax revenues from businesses that would have provided the goods and services the government produced, and higher costs to taxpayers because studies show government cannot produce as efficiently as those who do it for profit.

The problem is becoming significant at the state and local levels, too. The reason is the large amounts of federal dollars reaching states and localities as revenue sharing.

And because there is no small-businessmen in the private sector, at the federal level, states and cities are not even required to conduct cost comparisons before using federal money to compete with business.

There are signs that the problem is finally being recognized and that improvements can be expected. In Arizona, the Government Competition with Private Enterprise Act is now law.

It requires a review of all programs with an eye to contracting out wherever it is in the public interest to do so. And it calls for a sales tax on all goods and services sold by state or local governments, thereby removing some of the price advantages they enjoyed over the private competition.

At the federal level, Sen. Hayakawa has been holding hearings in his subcommittee of the Small Business Committee to develop legislation which will reaffirm the policy of reliance on the competitive private enterprise system for goods and services used by the federal government.

What is needed is a return to the principle stated emphatically in President Eisenhower's 1952 directive: a distinction between the proper role of the government (to govern) and the proper role of private enterprise (to conduct business).

(Wilson S. Johnson is president of the National Federation of Independent Business, representing more than half a million small-business men and women.)

NEWS FROM THE GOVERNOR'S OFFICE

As a Mississippi police officer races to the scene of a fatal traffic accident, chances are better than 50 percent that the accident was related to excessive alcoholic consumption or driving under the influence (DUI).

Merely determining who is at fault after bodies are pulled from the wreckage is far from adequate.

Because of this, the Governor's Highway Safety Program (GHSP), a division of the Governor's Office of Federal-State Programs, currently is training police officers to become more effective in getting DUI drivers off the highways before they cause accidents.

Twenty-three Mississippi police officers recently completed a 44-hour DUI Law Enforcement Training Program at the Mississippi Law Enforcement Officers' Training Academy.

They now are working with their departments to upgrade DUI law enforcement.

The training program, developed by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration, is designed to improve an officer's ability to detect, apprehend and investigate DUI violators, and improve understanding of the drinking-driving relationship to accidents, alcohol's effects on driving behavior and drinking-driving laws.

It's also aimed at increasing the officer's efficiency in processing DUI arrests and improving skills in presenting courtroom testimony.

"Sharply reducing alcohol-related accidents is one of the Governor's Highway Safety Program's top priorities," said Ernie Albritton, acting GHSP director. "Beyond contributing to more than half of Mississippi's fatal highway accidents, alcohol also is related to hundreds of injury accidents. Yet, enforcing DUI laws requires considerable expertise."

Effective DUI enforcement requires that a law enforcement officer be able to quickly recognize driving characteristics of an individual who's intoxicated.

The officer must know how to properly approach the suspect. "The officer's actions at this point could, if the proper steps are not taken, endanger his life or adversely affect his case against the suspect," Albritton said.

The officer also must thoroughly understand psychological and physical testing techniques. How the driver answers a question often is as important as the answer given. Breath and blood tests can indicate other problems as well as that the driver probably is intoxicated.

Sometimes, a driver's behavior is related to medicine he or she has been taking or another factor not related to alcohol," Albritton said.

"The officer must be able to recognize this and see that the driver receives immediate medical attention. Taking such an individual to jail could endanger the person's life."

Albritton also stressed the importance of effective courtroom testimony. "If this link in the DUI enforcement chain is weak, the officer's prior efforts could be in vain," he said.

"All Mississippi drivers who consume alcoholic beverages should make prior arrangements for somebody else to drive when transportation is planned after drinking," Albritton said.

When is condition serious enough to call a doctor?

Someone in the family is sick, or injured. When does it become serious enough to call the doctor?

This question faces every family member or later. And there is no pat answer.

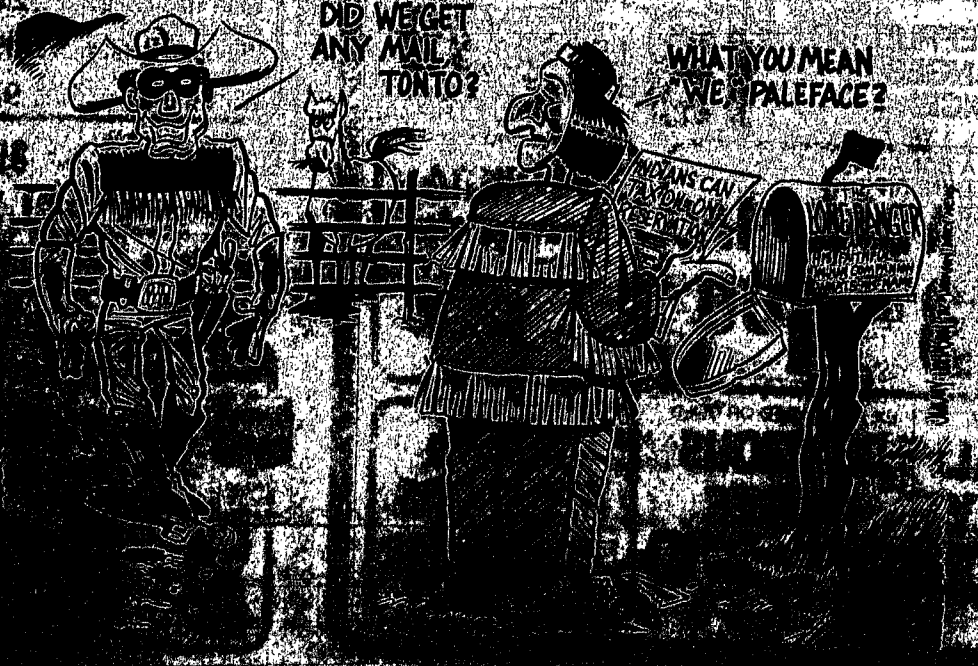

If the problem is a real emergency, such as a broken bone, severe bleeding, possible heart attack or stroke, diabetic coma, severe abdominal pain, the victim should be taken to the hospital, preferably in an ambulance attended by paramedics.

Minor illnesses or injuries such as sprained ankles, minor cuts, colds, etc., are handled at home.

The American Medical Association's Handbook of First Aid and Emergency Care points out that no one can say what constitutes an emergency for another person. If you will feel relieved by going to the hospital emergency room, go. Call ahead and tell them you are coming, and the nature of the emergency.

Emergency room treatment is generally more expensive than medical treatment in a doctor's office. Most hospitals will process insurance forms and many today will accept major credit cards.

Bay youth faces school arson charge

BY WAYNE DUCOMB JR.
A young boy is in custody of the Hancock County Youth Court charged in a Saturday afternoon arson at North Bay Elementary School in Bay St. Louis.

Gerry Gremlion, Bay Police Department assistant chief, Friday morning reported the boy was arrested Monday by police and charged with arson and vandalism of the school.

Norman Cowart Wiggins, a deputy state fire marshal, Chief Andrew Lizana of the Bay Fire Department and Gremlion investigated the arson which destroyed records stacked in the principal and secretary's offices and adjoining library at the school.

The school principal's desk and some office machines were also damaged in the smoke-filled rooms. Lizana said matches or a cigarette lighter was apparently utilized to ignite the stacked records.

STORE CLERK ROBBED
Bay police have no leads in a Wednesday night robbery of a liquor store clerk.

Gremlion said Bernard Fox of Dunbar Liquors closed the store at 9 p.m., locked the building and was unlocking the driver's side door of his pickup truck when two male subjects approached the man from behind.

The assistant chief reported one of the two turned Fox around and sprayed mace in his face. Gremlion explained the duo then stole approximately $700 in cash which was in a cash bag Fox was carrying and apparently fled on foot. Gremlion said Fox was treated at the Hancock General Hospital.

emergency medical attention for burns on his skin and was released.

The assistant chief said Fox could not provide a description of the two because they were wearing athletic gear. Gremlion and investigator Matt Karl are investigating the incident.

CHIEF RECOVERING
The assistant chief confirmed that Chief Douglas Williams is recovering and was expected to return home Friday or Saturday after undergoing recent triple bypass heart surgery.

Williams suffered a serious heart attack several months ago which resulted in his hospitalization for several weeks.

THIEVES RELEASED
Sheriff Ronald A. Peterson of Hancock County reported recently that four men found possessing stolen items were released because officials of the victimized company would not press charges.

Peterson said Tuesday morning Diamondhead Security personnel reported apprehending the four who had applied for employment at Diamondhead.

Deputy Nathan Hoda said various items stolen from a bathroom in the Diamondhead sales lodge were found in the four's vehicle.

"Security personnel intercepted the four, but Diamondhead officials didn't want to press charges and there was a witness who didn't want to get involved," he said.

Peterson said he suspected the four might have recently stolen a color television set from the Fairway Villa Motel at Diamondhead.

BOND JUMPER NABBED

A Pearl River County Sheriff's Department deputy recently apprehended a Gulfport woman who failed to appear in Waveland City Court after being charged with shoplifting.

Peterson reported Tannis H. Young, 20, alias Deborah L. Johnson, of the Timma Motel was arrested by the Pearl River deputy and charged with grand larceny for allegedly stealing some merchandise from a T.G.&Y. store in Piquette.

Young was wanted in Hancock for jumping a $300 bond resulting from a shoplifting charge in Waveland.

Peterson said Young is in custody of Pearl River law enforcement officials.

BERRY ARRESTED

Jack Berry, 19, of Route 1 Box 21, Bay St. Louis, is currently in the Hancock County Jail under a $3,000 bond following his arrest Thursday on charges of grand larceny.

Investigator Alvin Ladner stated Berry was arrested by a witness called the department and alleged seeing Berry take a welding machine and numerous tires from Super Star Body Shop on US-90 at Wednesday.

Berry was out on bond from a former arrest in June of last year when he was arrested again Thursday.

In June of last year he was charged with two counts of burglary and one count of receiving stolen property.

Following that arrest Berry allegedly set fire to the county jail. He suffered severe burns as a result.

"We are now keeping him in a special cell where he can be monitored easily," Ladner said.

He noted Berry is not allowed any flammable items.

FACING BURGLARY CHARGES

A Spring Wood Park Resident was charged with burglary of a dwelling Thursday by the Hancock County Sheriff's Department in connection with house broken into some six months ago in that area.

Sheriff's Department Investigator Alvin Ladner stated Louis Myers, 48, is out of jail under a $10,000 bond.

Ladner stated a confidential informant lead to arrest.

CHARGED WITH FORGERY

A Bay St. Louis man was arrested Thursday by the Hancock County Sheriff's Department and charged with forgery.

Bay Junior High girls win tourney

The Bay Junior High girls basketball team won the championship of the Deep South Conference Tournament last week in Vancleave.

Michelle Dorsey led the Tigerettes with 14 points as they whipped the Stone County Lady Tomcats, 31-21, to claim the title.

Jonnie Farve tossed in another 8 counters in that game. Tracee Reed, Charlotte Garrett, and Petra Hicks led the club in rebounding, a big factor in deciding the outcome.

In the semi-final contest, the young Tigerettes bombed Pass Christian, 37-18.

Jonnie Farve and Michelle Dorsey accounted for 11 and 10 points respectively.

Monday night the girls destroyed Mercy Cross in Biloxi, 32-17.

Farve scored a season high 21 points in that one-sided contest. Reed added 18 followed by Dorsey with 16 points.

Garrett and Hicks led the team in rebounding as the Tigerettes ended the year with an impressive 14-1 record and perfect 7-0 conference mark.

Coach Barney Necaise noted, "This is a good group of young ladies to work with. They possess a great deal of talent and hopefully will continue to improve with hard work and dedication."

The team received the championship trophy for winning the Deep South Conference Tournament and a trophy for finishing first in regular season play.

Boys finish second

Bay Junior High finished second in the Deep South Conference Tournament last week in Vancleave, losing to Stone County, 34-21 in the finals.

A good team effort from the young Tigers kept his opponent close until the final period when the Tomcats pulled away.

Stone County went undefeated in conference play and was the only team to beat Bay Junior High.

In the first game of the tournament, the young Tigers blasted the East Central Hornets, 49-24.

Jeffrey Smith led the team in scoring with 16 points. West Dedaux and Dexter Bell added 11 and 10 points respectively.

Pearl River Central fell to the Tigers 42-39 in the semi-final round of the tournament.

Smith and Dedaux were high scorers for Bay Junior High with 11 points each. Bell tossed in 10 followed by Allen Frederick with 8 points.

Monday night the Tigers ended the season on a winning note, taking a 42-16 decision over Mercy Cross in Biloxi.

Bell and Dedaux scored 18 and 15 points respectively in that contest.

"This was a young and inexperienced team at the beginning of the year and two starters were eighth graders and four players had no playing experience," the previous year, commented coach Barney Necaise.

"They worked hard, showing great dedication, a desire to excel, hustle, and a winning attitude. I am very proud of these young men as they finished a very successful year, winning 14 games and losing only 4," Necaise explained.

The Stone County vs. Pearl River Central boys' final was scheduled for 8:15 p.m. Saturday following the girls' final between Hancock North Central and Stone County at 7 p.m. Results of these games will be in this Thursday's edition of The Coast News.

A close high school basketball game in Friday night action of Deep South Conference Tournament at Bay High School ended with Hancock North Central losing to Pearl River Central 47-42.

Hancock Head Coach Mike Halley noted his team had a poor first half, trailing 16 points early in the ball game by 16 points.

Money Talk

By Norine Barnes

The research team, Vankelovich, Skelly, and White report that 34 percent of American families argue about money. The arguing often starts because husband and wife bring different values and assumptions about money to the marriage.

Attitudinal money having money in the bank, or your wife's life, while the husband is meant to have enough money to live on, the monthly interest charges on a loan.

Many psychologists suggest that family money is a taboo subject. The power and control of money is a common theme in many families.

TEXAS CLIFFHANGER—The world's first total freefall ride, the Texas Cliffhanger, will open in late April at Six Flags Over Texas. Riders will be dropped at freefall speed from the top of the 125-foot-tall tower. Passengers will end up riding flat on their backs as the ride's computer-controlled brakes bring the gondolas to a stop.

Horticulturist lists new vegetables for '82

Plant breeders have been busy, so the 1982 seed catalogs are bursting with "new" vegetable varieties for gardeners to try this year.

"There are many new varieties of beans, squash, cucumbers, pepper and melons, just to mention a few," says Dr. Mike Burnham, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service horticulturist. "It will be impossible to try them all, and no one should. It may also be difficult to locate seed of some because there is no one source for all of them."

The National Garden Bureau has designated 1982 as the "Year of the Bean." Some of the new beans and related vegetables are: Jumbo, a large, flat, bush bean reported to have a strong "beany" flavor; and Daisy, a round, dark green bush bean that holds the beans above the leaves so they are easy to pick. Other new beans are Dandy, Peak and Bury.

Gardeners who developed a taste for Sugar Snap peas will be happy to learn that the developers of Sugar Snap have introduced three new snap peas with shorter vines than Sugar Snap. These new peas are Sugar Bon, Sugar Rib and Sugar Mel.

While 1981 was the "Year of the Squash," it seems to be carrying over to this year with all the new varieties of squash. Dr. Burnham says. Both of the 1982 All America Vegetable Selections are squash. Peter Pan is a bush scallop, and Jersey Golden Acorn is a yellow acorn that can be used as a summer squash or left to mature as a storage squash.

There are several new zucchini squash: Richgreen, Buccaneer, Superzini, Zuchlong, Onyx and Emperor. They differ a little in maturity, length and color.

Other new squash varieties are Early Acorn, a semi-bush hybrid; Puritan, a small-fruited hybrid butternut; Multiplik, a hybrid yellow straight-neck; and a hybrid scallop, White Ruffles.

Among the new tomato varieties is Basket King, a cascading type ideal for hanging baskets. The clusters of thin-skinned, small fruit are red. Unfortunately, the variety is not described as resistant to any of the major tomato diseases. Dr. Burnham says.

Champion is described as tolerant to verticillium and fusarium wilts, root knot nematodes and tobacco mosaic virus. The fruit are large, red, and mature earlier than Better Boy. President is a determinate hybrid with resistance to several diseases. The fruit are large, firm and red, and mature early. Petite Lani and Basket are three new dwarf tomato varieties developed by the University of Florida for pot culture.

Early Thickset is one of several new peppers. The medium-sized fruit develop in clusters and should be ready to harvest six weeks after the plants are set out. Zippy is a mild-hot, cayenne pepper. The long pods can be used in salads when green or after turning red. Surefire, a hot pepper as the name implies, has long, tapered, yellow-green pods that turn red at maturity. The fruit hang down below the leaves. This is attractive, but makes them likely to rot if they touch the soil. Dr. Burnham points out.

Redhead is a new lettuce with the outer one-half of the leaf carrying a reddish tint. The name implies this is a head of lettuce, but it isn't. Several new varieties of sweet corn are Stardust, Crystal Delight and Silver Chalk, all white cobs; Honey Frost and Honeymoon, both bicolors; Seneca Horizon, an early yellow; and Pennfresh 400, a supersweet corn that should be isolated from other corn in the garden.

European cucumbers are becoming more popular, Dr. Burnham says. Several of the new cucumbers varieties have long, tapering fruit. Biplane Bush Hybrid is one of these that has short vines. Euro-American is another variety with long, full Medals is a new pickling variety.

"These are only a few of the new varieties," he says. "Gardeners who want to know more should check the catalogs and seed companies for more information." Several catalogs are available, including the National Garden Bureau's "1982 Seed Catalog," which lists over 1,000 varieties of vegetables.

Dr. Burnham says that the new varieties of vegetables are a result of years of research and breeding by plant breeders. He encourages gardeners to try some of the new varieties to see if they like them.

Texas park announces unique 'free-fall' ride

The world's first total freefall ride, the Texas Cliffhanger, will debut late this spring at Six Flags Over Texas.

The Arlington theme park's general manager, Ray Williams, said the towering, 2.1 million dollar ride will give thrillseekers "the same falling sensation they would feel if they stepped off the top of a nine-story building."

Williams said the ride has no precedent in the industry. "Even our loop coaster," he said, "had 'ancestors' that were built around the turn of the century, but there's nothing in amusement ride history which resembles the Texas Cliffhanger."

Williams, who recently rode the prototype model of the ride at the Intamin AG factory near Geneva, Switzerland, said, "The sensation is unlike anything developed up to now. There's no way to compare it to even the biggest of roller coasters, or any existing ride."

The "L-shaped" ride tower juts 125 feet into the air. Passengers board the Texas Cliffhanger on the underside of the tower. They will be seated four abreast in sleek, padded gondolas. The gondolas rise one at a time to the top of the tower, with the trip up taking only ten seconds.

At the top, the gondolas move into "drop position" and will be held at that point for ten seconds. Riders, protected by over-the-shoulder "lap bars," have an unobstructed view of the area in front of them.

After the pause, the gondolas—weighing 1,500 pounds without passengers—drop at freefall speed, guided by tracks.

Near the bottom of the drop, the track curves and riders will suddenly find themselves on their backs looking straight up at the sky.

A computer controlled braking system will stop the gondolas near the end of an 86-foot-long horizontal track. Then the gondolas will be slowly turned upright and lowered to the bottom of the structure for unloading.

During the freefall drop, riders will experience a 3.5 G force. The ride accelerates from zero to 55 miles per hour in the first 1.3 seconds of the plunge.

Williams said the computer safety systems engineered into the ride are "state of the art" devices.

He said 103 electronic sensors send messages to the computer during each ride cycle.

Some of the sensors detect the ride's speed. Others give the computer information on the exact location of each gondola.

"If the computer isn't satisfied with the ride's operation, it will temporarily close it down," Williams commented.

Williams said the ride is currently on its way by ship from Europe to Texas. Foundations for the 110-ton structure have already been poured.

After construction is completed, extensive tests will be conducted before the ride is opened to the public in late April.

The Texas Cliffhanger will occupy a site on the edge of Six Flags' Boomtown section.

FIRE ANTS

Commissioner of Agriculture Jim Buck Ross has announced that the Mississippi Department of Agriculture and Commerce has applied to the Environmental Protection Agency for the conditional use of the insecticide termiticide for the control of fire ants.

According to a research team at the Mississippi State Chemical Laboratory, termiticide is effective in controlling fire ants, which are a serious problem in Hancock County and throughout Mississippi. The product is degradable and considered safe.

Commissioner Ross says reports have been made to his office relating to problems with health, livestock, wildlife and reduction in yields of row crops because of the serious need to control the pest in Mississippi.

According to Ross, EPA should be informed of the serious need to control the pest in Mississippi. Farmers, homeowners and others interested in expressing to EPA a need to control the fire ant problem may do so by writing Dr. John A. Toth, Director, USEPA, Washington, D.C. 20460.

On Feb. 3, Farmweek gives a review of the marketing options available to Mississippi farmers. Also, scheduled is a report on production tips for winter forage by Dr. Lamar Kimbrough, Extension forage specialist.

INCOME TAX

Income taxes—that's a subject that interests a lot of people in one way or another. And with all the tax changes made in the 1981 Economic Recovery Act, it's a topic that will be gaining in interest as tax filing time nears.

Folk who do a good job of keeping tax records will be in good shape for filing tax returns. If you didn't keep a good record of tax records last year, start now putting together all your receipts on tax-deductible items. If you're in business for yourself, you also need to get a handle on your own income.

Several guides are available to help keep your tax information together. For example, there's Schedule C, Form 1040. Once you have the information rounded up, put it in some organized form on paper and attach the receipts to the document.

There's a wage and salary guide to receive if you're an employee, and a guide to the last day of January. Other guides come with Schedule C, and a guide to the last day of January. Other guides come with Schedule C, and a guide to the last day of January.

St. Paul registration scheduled this week

St. Paul School in East Christian will conduct registration for the academic year 1982-83 for current students in K-5, brothers and sisters of current students, Kindergarten and first graders, Monday through Friday, Feb. 1-5, from 8:30 a.m. to 3 p.m. in the school office.

Kindergarten children must be five years old on or before September 1, 1982. First graders must be six years old on or before September 1, 1982.

New students must have certified birth certificates;

Baptismal certificates if Catholic; and immunization compliance certificates.

New students must be accompanied by parent or guardian. Late registration fee will be in effect on Monday, Feb. 8 or current students.

Since a considerable number of students are already on a waiting list, it is important for current students to register on time. Waiting list students will get placement on Monday, Feb. 8, if vacancies allow. The Southern Association of Colleges and Schools, through its Commission on Elementary Schools, has awarded continuing accreditation to St. Paul School.

Also this week, St. Paul School will join thousands of schools across the nation in observing Catholic Schools Week, Feb. 1-5.

"The purpose of the observance is to call attention to the merits and accomplishments of a truly Christian Education," according to Sister Rosalie, principal.

"We feel our school offers individuals, families and our community, values not to be found in other environments," she continued.

"St. Paul School is a community where young people gradually learn to open themselves up to life as it is, and to create in themselves a definite attitude to life as it should be," the principal continued.

"Catholic Education goes beyond the basic learning of English, math, reading and science — it raises our spirits to meet the challenges of today and fills us with hope for tomorrow," she feels.

Afraid to live

Q. I am very ashamed to be writing a letter. I always keep everything to myself. That is my problem. I'm a 17 year old girl and I have nerve problems. My hands shake and I have dark circles under my eyes.

Everyone stares at me as if I am a ghost. Sometimes I go to bed and hope to die and never awaken to live this life as a zombie. I had a boyfriend but we aren't seeing each other anymore. I think he sees me as a nervous wreck.

How can I make my appearance a little more interesting? (I feel a lot better just knowing I wrote this letter tonight.)

A. I'm glad you wrote. Telling someone else always makes a person feel better. Find a good friend or counselor you can talk to, and you will feel better still. Ask God to heal you of this acute self-consciousness. Then help Him answer your prayer by throwing your energies into making other people feel at ease. Think about other people more, get peace and confidence into your mind, and you will become a happy, interesting, attractive person.

Perhaps you will find help in our booklet, "Try Faith And Watch What Happens," which is on its way to you. Any reader wishing a free copy may write to us at Box 500, Pawling, N.Y. 12554.

Always guilty

Q. My husband had hardening of the arteries and his mind is in bad shape. I had to put him in a nursing home because I could not handle him. I feel so guilty and I cry a lot. I pay a good price for his care money that we both worked for and saved. But even if I go to have lunch with friends I feel guilty that he cannot be there. How can I cope with this?

A. You have certainly done the right and sensible thing. And it is best for your husband to be where he can be properly cared for. You are giving him love when you put him under good professional care. Instead of feeling guilty, thank God that together you created the financial means to have such good care for him. Be grateful for good friends and let yourself have good times.

New start

Q. Since my father passed away I have had two broken marriages. I became abusive, distrustful, defensive. I am ready to start over and yet I am puzzled by my own behavior toward women. I need guidance badly so I am looking to you. Please help me.

A. Since you seem to date your negative actions from your father's death, your attitude toward a wife may possibly relate to your relationship with your father. Better talk with a good counselor who can help you understand and give up your hostility. You certainly should not marry again until you learn respect, courtesy and kindness toward a woman.

Q. I have always had a crush on this guy who was living with a girl. Well, we finally got together and started dating. I knew from the first that I loved him and our relationship bloomed.

Before I knew it we were talking about marriage. But a few months ago my boyfriend decided he needed his freedom for awhile and didn't want to be tied down. Now he is seeing another girl and plans to move in with her. (I never lived with him.)

He tells me he cares for me but can only give me his friendship. I still love him very much. I've prayed so hard he will come back, and something inside of me tells me not to give up. Should I keep the faith that God will bring us back together?

A. Better get a smarter message from that "something" inside of you. This boy seems like bad medicine for you. And you should realize right now that only unhappiness can come from hanging on to him even in your thoughts. Keep the faith that God will help you find a good, decent young man to marry.

Pest management workshops slated

Three pest management workshops sponsored by the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service will be held in the state in February and March.

The meetings will provide training and updating on current pest management techniques that will lead to licensing renewal for consultants and others, said Dr. Jim Hamer, Extension pest management specialist.

Dates for the workshops are: Greenwood Convention

Center, Feb. 10; Jackson Holiday Inn North, Feb. 11; and W. M. Bon Extension Center, Mississippi State University, March 10.

Each workshop will begin at 8 a.m. and end about 4 p.m., Dr. Hamer said.

The morning program will deal with chemical application technology in pest management, followed by presentations on insect disease and weed management in various commodity areas.

Weather deals blow to winter grazing crops

Early January weather dealt a harsh blow to the state's cattlemen with winter annual grazing crops.

"Snow and ice weren't the major problem. They actually formed a protective cover," said Dr. Lamar Kimbrough, agronomist with the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service. "The extremely cold temperatures caused the lasting problems."

"Winter grazing covered with snow and ice could not be grazed, however, and some wet soils after thawing caused poor grazing conditions," he added.

Winter grazing crops such as ryegrass, small grains and annual clovers grow little at temperatures below 40 degrees F, and this winter's temperatures have been much lower. At very low temperatures, there may be some degree of winter kill to the plants, depending on plant species and other conditions.

Rye will tolerate more cold than wheat, followed by ryegrass, then oats, Kimbrough said. Since oats are susceptible to cold temperatures, some grazing cultures containing oats in the lower part of the stand were damaged severely.

Reports indicate that much acreage planted to ryegrass received severe top damage in many areas. Lush top growth was injured in much of the state. Small, late-seeded ryegrass plants are really having a tough time, Kimbrough added.

temperatures are helping winter grazing crops to recover," he said. "If the roots and bases of the plants are not damaged severely, there is plenty of time for continued good growth."

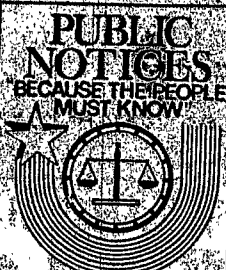

Military Mention

Marine 2nd Lt. Waldon A. Dedeaux, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Dedeaux Sr. of Route 3, Box 508, Delisle, recently participated in mechanized combined arms training and "Combined Arms Exercise 81."

He is a platoon commander with I Company, 3rd Battalion, 2nd Marines, based at Camp Lejeune, N.C. His unit participated in squad, platoon and company level tactics involving the use of tanks, artillery, tracked vehicles, air support and individual weapons. They conducted live-firing exercises with the M-16 rifle, M-40 machinegun, the light anti-tank assault weapon, mortars and other anti-tank weapons.

Conducted at the Marine Corps Air Ground Combat Center, Twenty-nine Palms, Calif., the training culminated in "Combined Arms Exercise 81." It was designed to emphasize "fire support" coordination between infantry, tank, artillery, mortar and anti-tank missile units.

PUBLIC HEARING NOTICE

PROPOSED REVISIONS TO THE MISSISSIPPI COASTAL ZONING ACT

The Bureau of Marine Resources will hold a public hearing on February 24, 1982 at 10:30 a.m. in the second floor meeting room of the Harrison County First Judicial District Courthouse in Gulfport, Mississippi. The purpose of the meeting is to receive public comments on a proposed change to the Coastal Wetlands Use Plan.
